Tom's Tips

This has been a trying month for everyone I am sure in one way or another. The Tampa Bay area is so lucky to avoid the eye of Hurricane Irma. By moving to the east of the bay it blew the water out of Tampa Bay, 4.6 feet below 0 elevation at the St Petersburg Pier at midnight Sunday, 9/10. Then by 12:00 noon Monday the level was 3.5 above 0. This event allowed the storm to get north of us before the water could get back in to Tampa Bay. If the storm had tracked 30 miles to the west we would have suffered the opposite effect with major flooding, especially at my house. I apologize for being so late getting the letter out. Our internet service was out for a little over a week after the storm. Also my father in law (Suzi & Joe's father) was flown to Cleveland Clinic last Friday where they are preparing him for a heart valve procedure. Suzi has been there with him and her mom.
