Tom's Tips

I don't mind telling you that this has been a big month for me. I just turned 60 years old and have learned a few life lessons.

Older is wiser. Older is older. Don't recommend it to someone who wants to stay young. I now weigh 30 pounds more than I did at 30. I only move half as fast as I did at 30. It now takes 60 minutes to something that only took me 30 minutes to do when I was 30.

There are no mistakes in life, they are simply lessons learned. I have always believed that nothing in life is totally useless, if nothing else it will serve as a bad example. This can apply to people, which was the case with my Uncle John. While motivating us to get out and work My mother would ask, "Do you want to grow up like your Uncle John? All he wants to do is drink whiskey, smoke, and chase women.

Now I don't mind telling you that at the age of 14 or so that lifestyle started to look a little more appealing.

Now that I am older and a little wiser, I think she was right after all.
